Public Elementary and Secondary State Aggregate Nonfiscal Data, by State, for School Year 1988-89; and School Revenues and Current Expenditures for Fiscal Year 1988

This report is based on information from State education agencies for the 1988-89 school year and the 1988 fiscal year. It also includes an appendix containing final revised data for the 1987-88 school year and the 1987 fiscal year. These figures represent two of the four surveys of the Common Core of Data (CCD) collected annually by the U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES).

Data for this report were provided by State education agencies (SEAs) from their administrative records. NCES and the SEAs work cooperatively to assure comparability between data elements requested and reported. Each State's CCD Coordinator was sent a copy of the previous year's data for his or her State with the request to update the data with currently available information and return it to NCES.

Methodology

The sources of data for this report are the "State Nonfiscal Survey of Public Elementary and Secondary Education," and the "Revenues and Current Expenditures for Public Elementary and Secondary Education" surveys of the CCD series. Responses to these surveys were due from SEAs in the 50 States, the District of Columbia, and the five outlying areas under U.S. jurisdiction to NCES on March 15, 1989. The data reported here have been edited, corrected if necessary, and incorporated into the file as of September 1, 1989.

In compiling these data from administrative record systems, each SEA obtains data from the local education agencies (LEAs) that operate public schools. Each SEA may edit or examine the individual LEA reports before computing State totals. While SEAs are requested to provide counts as of the school day closest to October 1, the "as of" dates for membership counts may vary slightly from State to State.

Where necessary, national totals have been imputed by dividing current-year totals for reporting States by previous-year totals for the same States to yield change ratios. Change ratios are then multiplied by corresponding national totals for the previous year to produce imputed national totals for the current year. "—" represents "data not available."

There are three indices for each State in table 5. The ratio of the number of regular high school graduates in 1987-88 to the number in 1986-87 is multiplied by 100 and is the first index shown. This index represents the increase (values greater than 100) or the decrease (values less than 100) from 1986-87 to 1987-88. This uncorrected indicator of increase or decrease may be misleading, since States' membership bases also vary from year to year, thus changing the pool of potential graduates. There are several ways to adjust the uncorrected ratios to compensate for this. The approach taken here is based on 12th-grade membership in the two school years. The ratio, multiplied by 100, of the 1987-88 membership in grade 12 to the grade 12 membership in 1986-87 is given. As with graduates, an increase is indicated by values greater than 100 and a decrease is indicated by values less than 100. The membership ratio is then used as a correction factor to yield the adjusted ratio of graduates. This value is multiplied by 100 for ease of interpretation. Values greater than 100 indicate that the number of graduates is increasing faster than the 12th-grade membership; values less than 100 indicate that the number of graduates is not increasing as fast as the 12th-grade membership. For example, Table 5 shows that while the number of graduates increased for the total United States in 1988 (ratio of 102.6) this was due to a larger pool of twelfth graders, and the proportion of these students who actually graduated declined slightly (99.5).

Since SEAs use various collection methods to obtain data and States use various accounting procedures, revenues and expenditures may not be comparable among States. NCES attempts to standardize State reports by defining revenues by source (local, intermediate, State, and Federal) and expenditures by function (instruction, support services, and noninstructional services).

Under Chapter 1 of the Education Consolidation and Improvement Act of 1981 (Public Law 97-35), States are to provide average daily attendance in accordance with State law; however, NCES provides a definition for States to use in the absence of State law. Since some States use their own definitions and others use the NCES definition, the data on average daily attendance are not comparable across States.

Definitions

The following list defines key terms used in this report:

Average daily attendance (ADA)—The aggregate days of attendance of a given school during a given reporting period divided by the number of days in session during this period; or attendance determined in accordance with State law.

Current expenditures—Current expenditures for the categories of instruction, support services, and noninstructional services including fixed charges (employee benefits, rent, and interest). They do not include expenditures for debt service and capital outlay.

Instructional expenditures include those for activities dealing directly with the interaction between students and teachers (salaries, including sabbatical leave, employee benefits, and purchased instructional services). Current expenditures for support services include student support services (attendance, guidance, health, speech, and psychological), staff support services (improvement of instruction, and educational media, including librarians), general administration (board of education and central office), school administration (principal), business (fiscal services, purchasing, warehousing, and printing), operation and maintenance of plant, student transportation services, and central expenditures (research, information services, and data processing). Noninstructional services current expenditures include food service operations and other auxiliary enterprise operations (bookstore and interscholastic athletics) and exclude community services (child care and swimming pool).

Fiscal year—The 12-month period beginning July 1 and ending June 30.

Fixed charges—Employee benefits paid on behalf of employees, including employer contributions to retirement systems, FICA, health and life insurance premiums, workmen's compensation, and other personnel benefits, and other fixed charges such as payments for liability and casualty insurance premiums, rental, interest on short-term current loans, and judgments against local agencies.

Guidance counselors/directors—Professional staff members assigned specific duties and school time to activities involving counseling students and parents.

Instructional aides—Those staff members assigned to assist a teacher with routine activities associated with teaching.

K—Kindergarten.

Membership—The count of students on the current roll taken on the school day closest to October 1 by using either 1) the sum of original entries and reentries minus total withdrawals, or 2) the sum of the total present and the total absent.

Officials and administrators—Chief executive officers of the education agencies, including superintendents, deputies, and assistant superintendents, and other persons with district-wide responsibilities, e.g., business managers, administrative assistants, professional instructional support staff, Chapter I coordinators, and home economics supervisors.

Other support staff—All other staff who serve in a support capacity and are not included in the categories of administrative support, library support, or school administrative support.

PK—Prekindergarten.

Prekindergarten students—Those students who are enrolled in a group or class that is part of a public school program taught during the year or years preceding kindergarten, excluding Headstart students.

Regular diploma graduates—Individuals who received a regular diploma during the previous school year and subsequent summer school.

Revenues—Revenues from local sources include taxes levied or assessed by an IEA, revenues from a local government to the IEA, tuition received, transportation fees, earnings on investments from IEA holdings, net revenues from food services (gross receipts less gross expenditures), net revenues from student activities (gross receipts less gross expenditures), and other revenues from textbook sales, donations, and property rentals. Revenues from intermediate, State, and Federal sources include restricted and unrestricted grants-in-aid, revenue in lieu of taxes, and revenues from the State that are received directly by the local school district (such as teachers' retirement payments, or State block grant funds for compensatory education purposes) rather than through the State education agency. Excluded are proceeds from bond sales, cash received from sale of assets, other nonrevenue receipts, intergovernmental transfers among LEAs, and revenues from community services.

School administrators--Staff members whose activities are concerned with directing and managing the operation of a particular school, including principals, assistant principals, other assistants, and those who supervise school operations, assign duties to staff members, supervise and maintain the records of the school, and coordinate school instructional activities with those of the education agency, including department chairpersons.

State education agency--The agency of the State charged with primary responsibility for coordinating and supervising public instruction including the setting of standards for elementary and secondary instructional programs.

Teachers--Those who provide instruction to prekindergarten, kindergarten, grades 1 through 12, or ungraded classes. Those who teach in an environment other than a classroom setting are also included.

Ungraded students--Those students assigned to classes or programs that do not have standard grade designations.

NOTES: Data reported are as of September 1, 1989. National totals are imputed based on the previous year's data. Connecticut does not report instructional aides and other support staff, and Nevada does not report instructional aides; these numbers are assumed to be zero. Puerto Rico shows a significant increase in other support staff from the prior year; prior year data is to be revised at a later date.

NOTES: Data reported are as of September 1, 1989. Graduate change index is the ratio of 1988 graduates to 1987 graduates divided by the ratio of 1988 12th-grade membership to 1987 12th-grade membership, multiplied by 100. National total for 1986-87 graduates is imputed based on the previous year's data. South Carolina's graduates are estimates provided by the State education agency. For ease of interpretation, all ratios have been multiplied by 100. Regular high school graduates may include summer graduates not included in 12th grade membership.

Appendix

Public Elementary and Secondary State Aggregate Nonfiscal Data by State for School Year 1987-88 and School Revenues and Current Expenditures for Fiscal Year 1987 Revised Final Tabulations

This appendix includes revised final information from State education agencies for the 1987-88 school year and the 1987 fiscal year incorporated into the Common Core of Data (CCD) files as of September 1, 1989. Data for this report were provided by State education agencies (SEAs). The sources of data for this report are the "State Nonfiscal Survey of Public Elementary and Secondary Education," and the "Revenues and Current Expenditures for Public Elementary and Secondary Education" surveys of the CCD series. Initial responses to these surveys were due from SEAs in the 50 States, the District of Columbia, and the five outlying areas under U.S. jurisdiction to NCES on March 15, 1988. These revised data include State corrections submitted after September 1, 1988.

Where necessary, national totals have been imputed by dividing current-year totals for reporting States by previous-year totals for the same States to yield change ratios. Change ratios are then multiplied by corresponding national totals for the previous year to produce imputed national totals for the current year. "—" represents "data not available."

NOTES: Data reported are as of September 1, 1989. The category "Other support staff" includes officials and administrators, school administrators, librarians and other support staff. Connecticut does not report instructional aides and other support staff, and Nevada does not report instructional aides; these numbers are assumed to be zero. Puerto Rico shows a significant increase in other support staff for fall 1988; fall 1987 data is to be revised at a later date.

NOTES: Data reported are as of September 1, 1989. Connecticut includes graduates of vocational/technical centers. South Carolina's graduates are estimates provided by the State education agency. National total for regular high school graduates is imputed based on the previous year's data and may include summer graduates not included in 12th grade membership.

NOTES: Data reported are as of September 1, 1989. Graduate change index is the ratio of 1987 graduates to 1986 graduates divided by the ratio of 1987 12th-grade membership to 1986 12th-grade membership, multiplied by 100. Totals for graduates are imputed based on the previous year's data. South Carolina's graduates are estimates provided by the State education agency. For ease of interpretation, all ratios have been multiplied by 100. Graduates may include summer graduates not included in 12th-grade membership.
